The purpose of this program is to reduce the hazardous chemical materials contain inside the computer hardware. Those materials will harm our environment. Studies estimate nearly 650 million computers will become obsolete by 2011 in the United State. All the computers we received will be inspected for the functionality and the condition of the hardware. Then we will rebuild the computer system and donate them to non-profit organizations, so they can send those rebuilt computer system to someone who needs computer around the globe.

We believe that recycling computers is an important part of the solution and we have been donating old computers to the non- profit organization for years. Over 60% of the old computer we received is usable and 55% of them are on good working condition after the rebuilding process. We want to bring the message to our society- Time to save the Earth!
